I know that my Redeemer liveth!

April 2019

From the Minister's study—

*Good Friday and Easter
Does life have to be 'successful'?*

'Life does not have to be successful; it may be a failure too' This was the heading of an article that I read in a Dutch newspaper which noted that there is a marked loss of a sense of eternity among Christians today. The belief in life after death is in decline. This means that for many believers life, between birth and death, is all there is. And if it is all, then it has to be successful! There is no room for failure. For there would be no blessed afterlife, no heavenly bliss, to compensate for the 'valley of tears' that we may pass through in life.

I must admit that I have no idea what happens after death. But what I do believe is that God is love and God loves us, in life and in death....for God's steadfast love endures forever (Psalm 138: 8). And I also believe in 'life before death' (very appropriately used as a slogan by Christian Aid). God wants us to have life, life in abundance, as expressed in the words of Jesus, 'I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly' (John 10:10) So is there room for failure in our life before death, in the abundant life God wills for us? Of course, we have to admit that failure is a fact of life, and we know that it was part of Jesus' life too. Before there was resurrection, there was crucifixion. Before the empty tomb there was the cross. Before there was strength, there was weakness.

Failure, struggles, mistakes....aren't they inevitable parts of our lives? However hard we work to make a success of our lives, of our studies, of our careers, of our relationships – often evaluating success according to the 'worldly' standards of money, power, prestige, etc – there is no doubt that at some stage in our lives we may well be confronted with disappointment, (dis)stress and even failure.

If it is the disappointment or failure someone else suffers we may sympathize or perhaps try to ignore it and look away. It is embarrassing; it doesn't fit the picture of how life should be! If we ourselves are confronted with disappointment and misfortune in our lives then, of course, we have to somehow deal with it. So what to do? Often we try to put on a brave face and we say that we can learn from our mistakes, our failures, our physical or mental suffering. They can make us stronger; they can be a useful experience to prepare us for future success.....

Again, success! Somehow life always has to be a success story. However, I believe that Jesus' death and resurrection takes away the need for (the pursuit of) success as determined by the logic of the world. Why? Not because we have an assurance that there is heavenly bliss in the afterlife. We don't know. But because the resurrection – whether you consider it a physical resurrection or see it more as a spiritual event – means that disappointment and failure do not have the last word. Not Christ upon the cross but Jesus lives and he is Lord! God's love prevails; the resurrection is God's affirmation of life, here on earth. It is God's YES to life with all its weaknesses and failings and God's NO to the death-dealing powers of endless striving for success, prestige and domination.

And so you may breathe a sigh of relief. Phew! There is ultimate freedom in failure. In Christ we can exit the rat-race, step off the treadmill, and embrace God's love. For it is a love that has absolutely nothing to do with how successful we are. In Christ we can embrace failure...and because of Easter we believe, we know, that beyond failure there is new life, new beginnings, new hope.....Thanks be to God!

CHRIST IS RISEN. HE IS RISEN INDEED. ALLELUIA!

All best wishes for Easter and the Easter season,

Leonora

FRIENDSHIP GROUP

Only 9 attended the card games session. Next month is a speaker from Restore, when we hope to have a better response and also do a collection. Our retiring collection this month is also for Restore.

RESTORE

We have had links with the Birmingham charity, Restore, for several years—you may have read their newsletters on display in the John Kydd Hall. Restore is a project of Birmingham Churches Together which welcomes and supports refugees and those seeking sanctuary by offering friendship, social activities and training. Their aims are to 'welcome, include, integrate'. Activities are for men, women and families and may be anything from swimming to a walk over the Lickeys or a community meal. Restore helps with the process of applying for asylum or citizenship, translating documents, applying for benefits or equipping refugees for work. Through a scheme of 'befriending' volunteers are introduced to those newly arrived in Birmingham and can help them with learning English and to settle into our way of life. Do try to come along to Friendship group on 10 Wednesday April, from 2.30 PM, when Jeremy Thompson, the co-ordinator, will talk about their work.

May Planning

The Friendship group will be organising a Bring and Buy on Wednesday 8 May for Christian Aid. Books, plants, jewellery, toiletries and items of bric-a-brac are all needed and very welcome. Please have a 'sort out' and if you would like things to be collected please let me know.

Report of the Synod meeting of Saturday 16 March 2019

This was held at Sutton Coldfield URC which is a convenient venue as it is close to the station. Leonora, Cheryl and myself attended as John, our new representative was not available.

We were welcomed by the minister, David Walton who also explained about the Foodcycle charity that they have started to use. It is a charity that uses the discarded food from supermarkets to make meals for those in need and others.

Worship was led by Barbara McDowell, a Lay Preacher from Sutton Church. It was good to have a Lay person leading worship with so many clergy within the gathering.

There was news of people who had left or will be leaving the synod as well as those who have come since the last meeting in October. Leonora was greeted also Mark tubby who will be going to the Eastern Synod in the summer.

John Davey then spoke about Eco church. Kevin Snyman started the initiative within our synod aiming for us to be an Eco Synod having many Eco churches. Kevin had now a role based at Church House in London and John had succeeded him. John spoke with enthusiasm about this. Our synod has the most churches registered 37 out of 114 and 9 have obtained their bronze award, including us, and 3 have attained silver. Read my article to find out more. It is all showing we are concerned for God's creation.

Walking the way good news stories. West Orchard URC in Coventry has started a prayer card scheme where all users of the premises are given cards to complete if they wish asking for prayer concerns and these are mainly anonymous. Maybe we need to revisit our idea we had a few years ago. Lillington Free church in Leamington Spa has been rebuilt to include an integral hall. John Procter the General Secretary of the URC preached at the opening ceremony on 9 March 2019.

Stepwise. Stuart Scott is the advocate for this within our synod. Stepwise is a facility to enrich the faith of us all and is intergenerational. It is not just for people wanting to become lay preachers or pastoral visitors. There is a video available in the URC website.

Reflections of the moderator's sabbatical—Discipleship. Steve Faber asked us to discuss in 2/3s in a couple of minutes: 'What kind of leadership do you think the URC needs to move us into the next decade?' One response was we need active growing disciples who in turn can make new disciples. This is the most important aspect of the great commission from Matthew 28. We are inclined to focus on teaching and baptising. Relationships are very important not just room bookings. Another question was; 'What is a disciple?' This led to a range of replies: someone or something that needs a leader, goes beyond welcoming, a light of Christ in society, an apprentice learner from the Master, someone to go out, a listener of people, awe inspired and filled with joy, committed to a community of faith, a doer of the Word not just a hearer and several other thoughts and finally a Disciple maker! A growing disciple is inwardly developing and binding with All disciples to make new ones. The plural of disciples is church. The final question we were asked was: 'How is your church helping you to be disciples making disciples?' Christ calls the people to be growing disciples. We are equipping the saints. Every member is to grow as a disciple and every member can make disciples. Steve is still working on his thoughts and isn't yet sure how it will be shared.

Finance and property report. I didn't make many notes about this as it consisted of quite a lot of figures. One thing I did pick up on was that grants for church work is being increased from 20% to 25% and the maximum for £20,000 to £30,000.

Synod-wide Pilgrimage. It is a time for reflection and prayer with others. It is walking the way. Some churches have walking groups.

We were ahead of schedule so an item from the afterNOON was brought forward. This was: Elders promises. A new promise has been suggested that has a deeper meaning than the others already used. If accepted by the 2020 assembly it will be constitutional. 'Do you promise as an elder of the United Reformed Church to seek its well-being, unity and peace, to cherish love towards all other churches and to endeavour always as far as you are able to build up the one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church?' Answer: 'By the grace of God I do, and all these things I profess and promise in the power of the Holy Spirit'. Churches and Synods have the right at the moment to accept this by doing nothing or objecting so it does not proceed to the 2020 Assembly. This caused some confusion and discussion took place about it. The result by consensus was that our synod will allow it to go forward. It will only proceed if 2/3 of churches and synods agree.

Notices General Assembly in 2020 will take place at Aston University on 10-13 July and stewards are required.

After lunch the Moderator led us in worship with the theme of 'Buckle up and hold tight'. This was with reference to a rollercoaster ride where one cannot see the whole track at one time so the unexpected make it interesting and exciting.

The meeting closed after the acceptance of the Synod Mission council report and the minutes of the previous synod meeting as published in the synod papers. The Moderator finished with prayer and invited us all to the residential synod meeting on 11-12 October 2019 at the Holiday Inn near the airport.

ECO CHURCH

AN A ROCHA UK PROJECT

What is this?

Hopefully when you have read the article you will have a better idea.

At a recent Synod meeting I was asked by Kevin Snyman the former Synod Mission enabler if I wanted to explore the chance of Weoley Hill URC becoming an Eco church. He was trying to get as many names as possible to have our synod with the most registered churches. I said yes without consulting anyone. Anyway I took this to Elders and then registered our interest on line with their permission.

I did wonder what I had let us all into! However I looked at the survey to see what we were doing already. It is not just the fact that we have recycle bins and now have LED lighting in the sanctuary but it covers other areas as well. These are Worship and Teaching, Management of Church Buildings, Management of church land, Community and Global issues and Lifestyle. A group of us looked at this survey together and I submitted our answers and discovered the fantastic news that we are already eligible for an award! We have started on the ladder of success! We have a bronze award! As yet we have not received our certificate as it has to be applied for. My next task is to make the application.

One of the things we suggested is to have a bench in our community garden for anyone to use. It will be concreted into the ground or secured in some way. It will be for people to sit and maybe think of the environment around them and God's creation in the plants and trees that they can see. Or they can just sit and rest. We are also going to suggest to the uniformed organisations that they make bug hotels or more bird boxes for the community garden or their own gardens as part of one of their badges. One thing we did do straight away was to move the cartridge recycling box into the corridor to the hall so it will be accessible to more people.

Any ideas any of you have to make us a more eco-friendly church will be welcomed.

I shall submit articles to the newsletter frequently do you can see that they are looking for in giving awards. The web site is www.ecochurch.arochoa.org.uk/how-eco-church-works for more details.

Thank you to David Marlow for putting our award onto our website.
